SECTION 1
THE ELECTRIC DELIVERY RATE SCHEDULE

1.6 BILLING LIMITATION FOR CERTAIN GENERAL SERVICE RATES

This Section cancelled effective May 1, 1993.

1.7 APPLICATION OF SEASONAL RATES

Customers who take service under certain rates contained in this Rate Schedule are subject to seasonally differentiated prices. As specified in these seasonal rates, prices for the billing months of July and August differ from prices applicable to all other billing months. Absent any price changes occurring in July and September that must be implemented on a prorated basis, price changes implemented in the months of July and September will occur on a non-prorated basis for meter readings beginning with the Company's billing Cycle A. The Company's billing Cycle A is scheduled to be read on or about the first of each month.

1.8 CONTRIBUTIONS IN AID OF CONSTRUCTION

Customers required by the Company to make contributions in aid of construction must make contributions sufficient to reimburse the Company for the net federal and state income tax impacts of such contribution.

The amount by which the contribution in aid of construction must increase to cover the income taxes is based upon current federal and state depreciation deduction schedules and CMP's cost of capital. CMP will revise this income tax adder whenever federal or state depreciation deduction schedules or CMP's cost of capital change materially. Below are the income tax adder rates in affect since 2001.

Construction Dates	Income Tax Adder
January 1, 2001 through September 10, 2001	29.5%
September 11, 2001 through December 31, 2001	20.6%
January 1, 2002 through May 31, 2002	22.0%
June 1, 2002 through May 4, 2003	20.6%
May 5, 2003 through December 31, 2004	16.9%
January 1, 2005 through December 31, 2007	29.5%
Beginning January 1, 2008 through June 30, 2008	16.9%
Beginning July 1, 2008 through September 8, 2010	15.6%

1.8 CONTRIBUTIONS IN AID OF CONSTRUCTION (Continued)

If CMP determines that these rates should have been materially different due to changes in the underlying depreciation deduction schedules, CMP will make the appropriate changes to these rates and any CIAC tax charged to customers based upon these rates.

Examples of some situations that can result in contributions in aid of construction that will be subject to the income tax provision are:

1. The construction portion only of residential and single-phase line extensions is subject to the income tax adder. Maintenance charges such as removal costs, transfer costs, and transformer removal and transfer costs, are not subject to the tax adder.
2. The construction portion only of polyphase line extensions, including transformer installation. Maintenance charges, such as removal costs, transfer costs, and transformer removal and transfer costs, are not subject to the tax adder.
3. Facilities necessary to permit the delivery of cogenerators and small power producers capacity and energy to the Company's transmission and distribution system in accordance with IRS Tax Ruling 88-129.
4. Costs of underground service.
5. Customer required facilities that are beyond what is normally supplied by the Company to connect such customers. For example, special facilities as described in Section 13 of the Company's Terms & Conditions.

Contributions in aid of construction related to relocation of Company facilities are subject to the income tax charge, except for relocation work resulting from a State of Maine or municipal road construction or public improvement project, which is not subject to the income tax charge. The charge for Temporary Service is not subject to the income tax charge. Charges to individuals for costs incurred in replacing a broken pole are not subject to the income tax charge.

The fair market value of facilities constructed by the customer and subsequently contributed to the Company is considered a contribution in aid of construction by the Internal Revenue Service and therefore subject to the income tax charge.

In the event that any portion of the contribution in aid of construction is subject to a refund, the amount of such refund shall be determined according to the following table:

REFUND SCHEDULE

The percentages stated are to be applied only to the applicable tax, which was charged on the portion of the contribution being refunded.

Percent of Tax Adder to be Refunded Year of Refund
(1)	(2)
1	100%
2	83%
3	69%
4	57%
5	47%
6	38%
7	31%
8	25%
9	20%
10	16%

For example, if the $1,000 contribution referenced above is due to be refunded in the 7th year after it was taken, the amount of tax which was collected on that amount should first be determined by multiplying $1,000 by income tax adder in affect at the time (29.5%) to arrive at the income tax adder amount of $295. Therefore, multiply $295 (income tax amount only) times .31 (amount in column 2) to arrive at $91.45(amount of tax to be refunded) plus $1,000 = $1,091.45 (total amount of refund).

There is no refund of the income tax portion of the contribution after 10 years from the date in which the contribution was collected.

Operation and maintenance charges (O&M) as specified in the Company's Terms & Conditions are to be applied to the base cost of the contribution only. It is not charged to the income tax portion.
